INTRODUCTION: A Sleeping Giant Awakens

There is a forgotten generation rising up and flexing its muscle in America today.

It is a generation so accustomed to invisibility, that they no longer consider getting overlooked to be an offense. In fact, they long ago learned to use their anonymity as one of their most precious and valuable assets.

Because of its unique placement in history, this generation was destined to change the world from the very beginning. Indeed, it already has – profoundly so. This group, now mainly in their forties, carries within itself such an incredible combination of perspective, experience, and ability, that it now represents nothing less than the hope of the planet.

It is literally the most powerful, the most gifted, and the best educated generation America has ever produced. It has been trained to see opportunity in adversity, and so has pressed forward even when frustratingly misunderstood by the generations on either side of it.

Accomplishment, perseverance, and balance have been its hallmarks - along with the resilience to withstand, and largely recover from, two devastating plagues (at least one of them man-made), that cut down huge numbers of its members in the prime of their lives.

The most amazing thing about this generation, however, is that until now, the vast majority of its members have had no idea they even exist as a generation. Like ninja swordfighters in the dark, many have developed their intuition, their insight, and their spirituality as if each one were the only soldier left standing in a battle that must be won anyway. Most have not yet realized they actually number in the tens of millions. Their lack of self-awareness as a group has, thus far, been both a great strength - and their Achilles heel.

However, all that is now about to change. The world is facing challenges that require a technological savvy the majority of Baby Boomers don't seem to possess, along with a sense of old school values that many Generation Xers seem to have missed. Time is of the essence, and stealth mode is no longer acceptable as a primary operational strategy. Fortunately for us all, a new day has finally dawned.

The age of the Ambassador Generation has, finally, arrived.

Congratulations!

We hope you have enjoyed this publication excerpt from the book, Age of the Ambassador: the Future Starts Now. If you happened to be born between 1957 and 1969 (approximately), the new awareness of your own generation's existence has probably already changed the way you view the world. That's a good thing - because as other people become aware of our existence, it will definitely change the way the world views us.

The complete book-and-audio set is scheduled for official publication on September 30, 2024. Thanks for your order, and for helping us spread the word about the most powerful generation the world has yet seen.

In the full publication, you'll discover:

- ☑ The three tactical moves that we need to accomplish as quickly as possible, in order to influence the current course of world events and create a better future for the planet...
- ☑ How we became a “lost generation”, and exactly how we dropped off the radar screen...
- ☑ The one word that best defines and describes us as a generation, and why your Baby Boomer parents probably cringe every time they hear it...
- ☑ The many ways we've already changed the world – while getting absolutely no credit for it...

- ☑ How millions of us were wiped out before we could even get started...
- ☑ How Barack Obama's successful presidency opened the door, and why Kamala Harris' campaign is the trumpet call we've been waiting for...
- ☑ And a whole lot more unexpected insights and revelations that will energize and empower you, plus give you clarity, confidence, and peace of mind!

Enjoy in prosperity and health,

Lance T. Walker, author
